Vietnam Extends Visa Validity for U.S. Citizens Traveling For Business and Tourism

On April 9, the National Assembly of the Socialist Republic of Vietnam approved a plan to issue 12-month, multiple-entry visas to American citizens who travel temporarily for business or tourism.

The new reciprocity arrangement, entered into force on 29 May 2016, will benefit American and Vietnamese tourists and business travelers, generating new opportunities for trade, investment and tourism. The successful conclusion of the arrangement underscores the commitment of the U.S. and Vietnam to improve the bilateral relationship by expanding existing trade and economic opportunities and developing people-to-people ties.

Based on the arrangement, Vietnam will issue multiple-entry visas valid up to one year to U.S. citizens who wish to travel for short-term business or tourism and who otherwise meet the requirements to enter Vietnam. The previous maximum validity for Vietnamese visas issued for these purposes was, in most cases, three months with just a single entry. The United States will continue to issue multiple-entry visas valid up to one year to Vietnamese citizens entering the United States temporarily for business (B-1) or tourism (B-2).

While the United States and Vietnam will, in principle, issue maximum validity visas to each other's citizens, each side may limit visa validity and entry times for individual applicants on a case-by-case basis in accordance with applicable laws and regulations.

In FY2015, the U.S. Mission to Vietnam issued a record number of non-immigrant visa applications for Vietnamese citizens – nearly 75% of these were for temporary business and tourism in the United States.

Any Americans who do not receive a 12-month visa to Vietnam after 30 May 2016 should contact the Hanoi American Citizens Services Unit at: acshanoi@state.gov

Absentee Voting Information for U.S. Citizens Abroad

Voting Is Now Easier Than Ever Before

All U.S. citizens can now receive their blank ballots electronically. Depending on the state in which you are eligible to vote, you may get your ballot by email, fax, or internet download. To start, go to www.FVAP.gov to complete a new Federal Post Card Application (FPCA), print and sign the form then return it to your local election office in the United States. We recommend overseas U.S. citizens get in the habit of completing FPCAs each January. You should include your email address on the form so it's easier for your election officials to reach you if there is a problem. If your state delivers ballots electronically by fax only, be sure to include your fax number. If you request electronic delivery and include your email address or fax number, you'll receive your blank ballot 45 days before general and mid-term elections and generally 30 days before special, primary, and run-off elections for federal offices. Most states now have voter registration verification websites, and many offer a means of tracking the status of your registration and ballot.

Absentee Voting Basics

Absentee voting is a simple 2 step process.

1. Every year, you send in a completed Federal Post Card Application (FPCA) to your local election officials.
 - They confirm your eligibility to vote, and put your name on a list to receive absentee ballots for any elections held that calendar year.
 - They send you a blank absentee ballot electronically or by mail.
- 2(a). You complete the ballot and send it back so it arrives before your state's ballot return deadline.
- 2(b). Or, if you haven't received your blank ballot 30 days before an election, don't wait any longer; use the emergency Federal Write-in Absentee Ballot to vote.

Overseas voters have a number of options for returning voted ballots:

- Local mail If you have good mail service to the United States, put your ballot in the mail with appropriate international postage.
- U.S. Embassy Pouch/APO/FPO You can drop off your ballot request or voted ballot at the nearest U.S. Embassy or Consulate for return to the United States, or you can have someone drop it off for you. It must be addressed to your local election officials and have sufficient postage or be in a postage-paid envelope. A postage-paid envelope is available on the FVAP web site. Click here for more information for Ho Chi Minh City and here for more information for Hanoi.
- Fax, Email, or Internet A number of states now allow the electronic return of voted ballots. Consult the Federal Voting Assistance Program's Voting Assistance Guide for electronic transmission options for your state.
- Express Courier Service If time is short or local mail is unreliable, you can use professional courier services such as FedEx, DHL, or UPS. NOTE: FedEx does not deliver to P.O. boxes.

For more information about overseas voting, visit <http://travel.state.gov/content/passports/en/abroad/legal-matters/benefits/voting.html>.

Exciting News! The U.S. Mission to Vietnam has launched an updated public website – making just one place to obtain all information and services for U.S. Citizens traveling to or visiting Vietnam! You can find the link below or on page one. Please note that you may need to update your web browser bookmarks.

Zika Virus Information

In May 2015, the World Health Organization reported the first local transmission of Zika virus in the Western Hemisphere, with locally acquired cases identified in Brazil. As of January 15, 2016, local transmission had been identified in at least 14 countries or territories in the Americas, including Puerto Rico (See Pan American Health Organization [PAHO] link below for countries and territories in the Americas with Zika virus transmission). Further spread to other countries in the region is likely.

Zika virus is spread to people through mosquito bites. The most common symptoms of Zika virus disease are fever, rash, joint pain, and conjunctivitis (red eyes). The illness is usually mild with symptoms lasting from several days to a week. Severe disease requiring hospitalization is uncommon. However, Zika virus has been linked to Guillain-Barré syndrome and to pregnant women giving birth to babies with birth defects and poor pregnancy outcomes.

In response to the Zika virus outbreak in Latin America, CDC has issued a travel alert \(Level 2-Practice Enhanced Precautions\) for people traveling to regions and certain countries where Zika virus transmission is ongoing.

For information on Zika virus, including transmission, prevention and a list of areas where the virus has been found, please see the CDC website at <http://www.cdc.gov/zika/index.html>. You can also see more information at <http://travel.state.gov/content/passports/en/go/Zika.html>.

Typhoon Season Tips

The typhoon and severe storm season in Vietnam runs from approximately May through November. Before this year's season gets underway, we would like to pass along some severe weather preparation tips to U.S. citizens residing or traveling in Vietnam.

During the approach of a typhoon or severe storm U.S. citizens are encouraged to monitor the storm's path by listening to the radio, watching television, or monitoring the following websites:

- U.S. Joint Typhoon Warning Center
- Vietnam National Center for Hydro-Meteorological Forecasting \(Tiếng Việt\)
- Tropical Storm Risk

If you are in the path of a typhoon or severe tropical storm, please take the following precautionary measures to ensure minimal disruption or damage. You should also contact friends and family in the United States with updates on your whereabouts.

- Locate shelter and follow all official instructions, including evacuation if ordered.
- Carry your travel documents at all times (i.e., copies of your U.S. passport, birth certificate, picture ID's, etc.) or secure them in a safe, waterproof location.
- Secure loose outdoor items (limbs, roofing material, windows (coverings), doors, debris (trash), etc.).
- Fill vehicle, generator, and water tanks.
- Check and charge radios.
- Charge cell phones and carry your charger, including portable chargers available for most cell phone models at many convenience stores and electronic shops.
- Have bottled water; make ice.
- Gather flashlights, tools, and first aid supplies.
- Have fresh batteries, candles, matches, water, groceries (canned and/or dry foods), and pet supplies.
- Assure an adequate supply of first aid materials and prescription medications.
- Stay home and let your family and office know how you plan to weather the storm, especially those family members in the United States.

Air Quality Monitors in Hanoi and Ho Chi Minh City

The U.S. Embassy and U.S. Consulate have installed air quality monitors to measure PM 2.5 particulates as an indication of the air quality. You can read more information and check the current reading for Hanoi and for Ho Chi Minh City at: <https://vn.usembassy.gov/embassy-consulates/embassy/air-quality-monitor/> for Hanoi, and <https://vn.usembassy.gov/embassy-consulates/ho-chi-minh-city/air-quality-monitor/> for Ho Chi Minh City.

For more details on air quality index, please follow the link to the Environmental Protection Agency’s Air Now website. The AQI can be observed either by clicking on the location on the map, or by selecting Hanoi or Ho Chi Minh City in the “Select a City” option on the upper right part of the page. The page provides AQI over the last 24 hour period as well as pollutant concentration and a downloadable historical document.

Please note that citywide analysis cannot be done with data from a single monitor. This data provides an accurate measure of the air quality in the section of each city close to the location of the monitor. The Vietnamese Ministry of Natural Resources and Environment also provides air quality data for Hanoi. You can view this information at <http://www.cem.gov.vn/>.

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has developed a formula to convert PM 2.5 readings into an air quality index (AQI) value that can help inform health-related decisions. Meanings of AQI numerical values can be seen in the chart below. For more information on AQI and how it is

Air Quality Index Levels of Health Concern	Numerical Value	Meaning
Good	0 to 50	Air quality is considered satisfactory, and air pollution poses little or no risk
Moderate	51 to 100	Air quality is acceptable; however, for some pollutants there may be a moderate health concern for a very small number of people who are unusually sensitive to air pollution.
Unhealthy for Sensitive Groups	101 to 150	Members of sensitive groups may experience health effects. The general public is not likely to be affected.
Unhealthy	151 to 200	Everyone may begin to experience health effects; members of sensitive groups may experience more serious health effects.
Very Unhealthy	201 to 300	Health warnings of emergency conditions. The entire population is more likely to be affected.
Hazardous	301 to 500	Health alert: everyone may experience more serious health effects.

Travel Alerts and Warnings

The U.S. Department of State regularly issues travel alerts or travel warnings for various countries and regions. Travel warnings and alerts issued in the last month or so include North Korea, Somalia, Europe, Libya, Haiti, Ukraine, Afghanistan, Turkey, Yemen, Nicaragua and Kenya.

For information regarding all travel alerts and warnings, please go to this site: <http://travel.state.gov/content/passports/english/alertswarnings.html>

A Worldwide Caution was released on March 3, 2016 regarding the possible risks for travel due to increased terrorist threats. See the whole caution here.

U.S. citizens are reminded to maintain a high level of vigilance and to take appropriate steps to increase their security awareness.

How to Subscribe/Unsubscribe to this Newsletter

The U.S. Embassy in Hanoi and U.S. Consulate General in Ho Chi Minh City are sending this monthly newsletter via the Smart Traveler Enrollment Program (STEP) as a public service to U.S. citizens in Vietnam.

If you are departing Vietnam after a long stay, please be sure to update your status in STEP: <https://step.state.gov/step/>

Updating your status if you move away from Vietnam will remove you from the mailing list for this newsletter and other Embassy and Consulate Messages for U.S. citizens in Vietnam.
