PROGRAM OVERVIEW

SEAYLP is a U.S. Department of State exchange program designed to advance the strategic goals of fostering civil society and good governance and cultivating a more cohesive Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) community identity by engaging promising young leaders. SEAYLP brings together high school students and teacher mentors from the ten ASEAN member countries for a three-week U.S.-based exchange program, focused on leadership and youth development and to explore shared challenges faced by the United States and ASEAN member countries. Participants explore the three pillars of the ASEAN community: political and security cooperation, economic skills-building (through project development), and socio-cultural leadership (through hands-on activities, workshops, seminars, and site visits to foster greater communication). The exchange will take place in April 2023. Participants are required to implement follow-on projects that serve the needs of their communities in the months that follow their return home. Participant costs for program administration, international and domestic travel, housing, and food are covered by the U.S. Department of State. The program in the United States will be organized taking into consideration all necessary safety guidelines issued by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and state, local, and campus authorities.
